MEMORIAL SERVICES AT FOREST LAWN IMPRESSIVE

More impressive than any previous celebration of its kind were the Memorial Day services held in Glendale at Forest Lawn Memorial Park yesterday and witnessed by thousands of reverent spectators.

The participation in the services of the huge blimp B-3, dispatched from San Diego by the navy department for the occasion, was a spectacular feature. The dirigible circled over Glendale several times before it descended to within 200 feet above the symbolic grave in Forest Lawn to drop from its basket a huge wreath in honor of the soldier boys who sleep in foreign lands.

Announced by blare of trumpet and led by the colors in charge of L. C. Gillette of the G. A. R., the largest Memorial Day parade in Glendale's history began at 2 o'clock its slow march down Brand boulevard to Forest Lawn Memorial Park, where the symbolic grave dedicated to the unknown dead was the center of the ceremonies.

Smiles and cheers greeted "the thin blue line" and the khaki-clad ex-service men everywhere along the line of march. Due to the diligence and efficiency of the marshal of the day, Captain Dru Nicoles, and his assistant, Joe Griffin, the great procession was formed and handled without a trace of confusion.

The services at Forest Lawn were impressive and inspiring. The spirit of reverence for the honored dead pervaded the exercises, from the invocation by Rev. C. R. Norton of N. P. Banks Post, G. A. R., to the last faint note of taps echoing from the hills at the close of the day.

Brevity and simplicity featured the speeches of the day. W. J. Hollingsworth, special representative of President Harding, paid a glowing tribute to the heroes of American wars; Judge Charles S. Crail, a Spanish war veteran, as Governor Stephens' representative at the ceremonies, added his own eloquent tribute to the telegram from the state's chief executive which lauded the patriotism and venerated the memory of the dead heroes; one of the most remarkable speeches of the day was made by Byron Pitts.

ADVENTIST CHORAL SOCIETY PROGRAM

About Forty Members Are Entertained at Home of
Mr. and Mrs. Dather

The Seventh Day Adventist Choral Society to the number of about 40 was charmingly entertained Monday night by Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Dather at their pleasant home at 367 West Broadway. At a brief preliminary session various items of business were transacted and then the following program was given:

Song, "I Wonder if Ever the Rose" (Slater), Miss Hazel Carr.
Song, "In the Time of Roses" (Reichart), and "One Fleeting Hour" (Dorothy Lee), by James Moore.
Reading, "The Musical Soul of the American Indian," by Mrs. H. G. Westphal.

Song, "My Loved One, Rest" (Bird), Mrs. Elva Laverty.
Songs, "Sister" (Vaughn) and "The Wreck" (Little) by Dr. C. A. Brandstater.

Songs, "The Maiden and the Butterfly" (Chadwick) and "The Spirit Flower" (Stanton), by Mrs. Ritta King Nelson.

Song, "Good Night" (Brown), by Miss Hazel Carr.

After dainty refreshments had been served by the hostess there was a very pleasant social half hour. This society is proving quite a social adjunct to the church by providing occasions to bring members together for pleasant and profitable evenings. It is making plans to accumulate a fund to be used for improvements in church and school. At the present time it is supporting an Armenian orphan.

MRS. C. H. TOLL IS PROUD OF SHOWING BY CLUB WOMEN

Important Resolutions, Including One Looking Toward Gradual Disarmament

Mrs. C. H. Toll has returned from the state convention of the Federation of Women's Clubs at Yosemite, tired, but enthused with the spirit of the great gathering and ready to throw herself into the concluding work of the year in the club of which she is the president, the Los Angeles Ebell.

Then she hopes to have a real rest before the club opens in the fall.

The weather she thinks must have been specially arranged for the convention, as but two small showers clouded the bright skitsthat dominated the week of their stay.

The pageant, which began at 10 a. m., Wednesday, and lasted until 5:30 p. m., was wonderful, she declares, the more so because the groups that composed it had come from all parts of the state and had no chance for a rehearsal together. The result showed how well it had been planned. It was divided into five parts and 80 women of the Ebell represented one part which had to do with literature. Their director was prevented at the last moment from accompanying them to Yosemite, so upon Mrs. Toll fell the responsibility of assembling the Ebell orchestra for its private rehearsals, and getting her members organized to take their part in the pageant, a job of no small difficulty when they were more or less scattered over the park. But the result justified, she felt, all the work that had been expended. The setting was an inspiration and the club women did magnificently. One newspaper writer said to Mrs. Toll, "I would not have believed, if I had not seen it, that they could put over the message they did."

Beginning with the scenes depicting the history of California from Indian occupation down through the work of the Franciscan fathers the days of the "forty-niners" and the American occupation, the pageant was led to the symbolical scenes showing what women had contributed to art, literature, drama, music and conservation in the up-building of the state.

There was a barbecue supper which was supplemented by contributions of special delicacies from the various county federations, one county giving grape juice, another raisins, another figs and one county broke over the food rules and gave little cotton powder puffs.

The next day, Thursday, was devoted to business and the convention closed Friday.

Mrs. Toll was chairman of resolutions and had little time for anything except the business of the hour. Many resolutions were adopted, the more important including a resolution having to do with the conservation of redwoods of the state; the purchase of more land for national parks; a resolution looking toward gradual disarmament of the nation but no immediate, drastic action along that line; resolution urging the enforcement of the prohibition law; a resolution recommending increase of the work of home demonstrators as a part of the Americanization movement, these demonstrators to go from home to home to teach women in regard to

DR. RUSSELL GIVES A VIVID ACCOUNT OF MOTHERS' CONGRESS

Dr. Jessie Russell gives an enthusiastic account of the program provided for the California Congress of Mothers and Parent-Teacher associations as given last week in the big civic auditorium at Oakland, at which Mrs. P. J. Cramer and the Oakland federation of Parent-Teacher associations acted as hostesses.

There was much entertaining in the way of luncheons, dinners and suppers. The reception given by the Oakland federation was quite a brilliant affair because of the many guests who are prominent as educators, or P-T. A. officials.

The exhibits, of which Dr. Russell as chairman had charge, attracted much attention. It was held in one of the smaller auditoriums and every inch of space was utilized. Glendale's prize posters were given a place of prominence. It contained some special features in the way of conservation work in the making-over of garments, home economics and special educational work. So interesting was it that many papers, the doctor said, made special feature stories of the things it included.

Round table talks were also a popular and worth-while feature of the convention, those on legislative matters being turned over to Dr. Russell at the request of the convention, as the state chairman of legislation was unable to be present. The doctor had to make the program, which she divided into nine features, with a speaker to lead the discussion under each. But few resolutions were adopted. One urged cooperation between producers and exhibitors of motion pictures to the end that we might have better films. Another urged the enforcement of the law against the sale of cigarettes to minors; a third endorsed the movement for a more modest dress among children in the public schools.

The membership of the state federation is about the same as last year, 40,000, the doctor says, but not as many delegates were present as at the meeting in Los Angeles.

A personal attention which the doctor greatly enjoyed was an auto drive over the Sky Line boulevard scenic route, given in her honor by Mrs. Martin Bekins of Los Angeles and San Francisco, which ended in a small little dinner at the Claremont hotel, at which covers were laid for about forty.

Mrs. M. L. Russell and Chapter B. A. P. E. O., were hostesses on Saturday at a pretty party at Mrs. Russell's home, 336 Riverdale drive, in honor of Miss Dorothy Williams who was recently graduated from the University of California.

Scotch broom, yellow coreopsis and white carnations carried out the dainty color scheme the hostess has chosen for the decorations in honor of the affair, the chief diversion of which was the game of bunko, in which Miss Carol Willisford won the first prize and Miss Schuyler the consolation prize.

MRS. M. L. RUSSELL HAS PRETTY PARTY

A charming feature of the entertainment was Miss Doris Packer's reading of a selection from "Peg O' My Heart," and for an encore she gave a reading in Italian dialect.

Refreshments of brick ice cream and home-made cake were served at the small tables after the bunko game.

Guests who enjoyed this congenial party were: Misses Millicent Alvord, Mary Frazee, Edith Schuyler, Mary Imler, Doris Packer, Faye Gould, Gertrude Vaughn, Madeline Love, Harriet Williams, Grace Crampton, Betty Gregg and the honor guest, Miss Williams; P. E. O. members who had the pleasure of the occasion were: Mmes. A. S. Chase, A. K. Wintersgill, A. M. Williams, A. M. Parker, A. D. Cross, Josephine Brant, Eva Cunningham, C. B. Guthrie, Bertha E. Dodd, W. N. Stamps, Miss Carol Willisford and the hostess, Mrs. Russell.

Mmes. Case, Wintersgill and Stamps assisted the hostess in receiving.

It seems to us that the only trouble about Yap is that the Japs would like to change the spelling of the name from Y-a-p to J-a-p.

EUGENICS LAW TO BE URGED IN NEW YORK STATE

Miss Rose Rothenberg, Believes Both Sexes Should Prove Fitness to Marry

(By International News Service)
NEW YORK, May 31.—Coincident with the action of the legislature of Wyoming in passing a bill making it mandatory for every male resident of the state about to be married to obtain a certificate from a reputable physician stating that he is physically fit and free from disease, is the announcement that plans are being made to present a similar bill to the next session of the legislature in this state.

Miss Rose Rothenberg, assistant district attorney of Judge Swann's staff, is enlisting the support of women's and medical associations of New York to back such a measure. When the legislature convenes next January, the first woman prosecutor of New York county is confident that she will have enlisted sufficient support to guarantee passage of the bill.

For Both Men and Women
But the law that Miss Rothenberg hopes to place on the statute books of this state will even go further than the one just passed in the western state. She believes implicitly in the old adage: "Sauce for the goose is sauce for the gander."

SACRAMENTO, May 31.—California took a leading place among the states of the nation in the reward of her heroic sons, who served in the world war, through the action of Governor Wm. D. Stephens today, in signing five soldiers' welfare bills, passed by the last legislature. Establishment of a veterans' welfare board, appropriations of $3,500,000 and plans for a $10,000,000 bond issue, are included in the bills. There is no bonus feature, but liberal farm and home purchase plans, aid for disabled veterans and preference on the civil service rolls.

WASHINGTON, May 31.—Formal investigation in the worst aviation accident in the history of the United States, which cost the lives of seven men when a great Curtiss eagle ambulance plane crashed at Indian Head, Md., Saturday night, is in progress today. Preliminary investigation has placed the blame for the accident upon the severe electrical storm.

SACRAMENTO, May 31.—Conflicts between Japanese factions here over the reopening of the Nippon bank, which closed its doors several months ago, were reported to the police early today. Two Japanese farmers, whose names were withheld, are reported to have been taken from their homes during the night and severely beaten upon their refusal to withdraw their deposits from the Japanese bank.

PARIS, May 31.—A wholesale roundup of communists, including some of the biggest Bolshevik chiefs in France was begun by the police today as a result of the outbreak of rioting on Sunday. A number of persons were wounded in fighting between communists and the police, including Deputy LaFont. It was understood that the persons arrested today included editors and employees of a number of radical newspapers.

LINCOLN, Neb., May 31.—Columbus Day, October 12, is still a legal holiday in Nebraska, and no attempt was made in the last legislature to repeal it. For a while a committee of the Knights of Columbus thought something had been "put over" unbeknown to their order, when they got hold of some printed copies of H. R. No. 300, a bill adding Armistice Day, November 11, to the list of legal holidays, and saw that it did not contain Columbus Day.

L. G. Brian, M. V. Ruddy and a couple of other knights, paid a special visit to the secretary of state's office to look at the official copy of the enrolled bill, as signed by the governor. It showed that Columbus Day had not been dropped. The omission in the printed copies was evidently an oversight.

The legal holidays in Nebraska, as the law now stands, are these: New Year, Lincoln's and Washington's birthdays, Arbor day, Memorial day, Fourth of July, Labor day, Columbus day, Armistice day, Thanksgiving day and Christmas.

STUNT AIRPLANE
FALLS IN CROWD

One Dying and Many Suffering
From Injuries Sustained As a Result

MILWAUKEE, Wis., May 31.—One man is believed to be dying today and fifteen others are suffering from injuries sustained when an airplane fell into a crowd of people at the state fair grounds at West Allis, a suburb.

The accident occurred during an exhibition by Al Wilson, a stunt flier. Wilson was endeavoring to catch a rope ladder dangling from an airplane as he sped around the track in a high powered automobile.

After six attempts had been made, the airplane swooped low over the automobile and the ladder caught on the car's exhaust pipe. The weight of the automobile brought the plane crashing down into a grandstand box filled with people.

Adolph Reiss was taken from under the plane, seriously hurt. It is believed that his spine was broken. Louis Disbrow, driver of the automobile, and Dallas M. Speers, the aviator, escaped serious injury.

They met on the bridge at midnight. They'll never meet again. For she was a cow, eastbound. And he was a westbound train.

The proposition for the irrigation of the Los Angeles river has been carried. We understand that the contract has been let to J. Pluvius.

EXHIBIT OF ARTS AND CRAFTS AT LOCAL UNION HIGH SCHOOL

A big event in the week's calendar will be the exhibit made by the art high school, which will open with a special preview Thursday, June 2, from 2 to 9 p. m. for parents and friends of pupils and for members of the Parent-Teacher association.

Friday, which will be Alumni day, the exhibit will be open to the general public from 10 a. m. to 9 p. m., and on Saturday, it will again be on view for the benefit of those who may have a half-holiday that they wish to improve by seeing what our boys and girls are doing with pencil and brush.

GLASGOW, May 31.—Miss Alexa Stirling, of Atlanta, Ga., American woman golf champion, went down to defeat before Miss Cecil Leith, British champion, in the opening round of play in the British women's championship tournament at Turnberry today. Miss Leith won by 3 up and 2 to play.

TWO ANNIVERSARIES ARE CELEBRATED ON SUNDAY

Birthday of C. S. Archer and Wedding Anniversary of
Mr. and Mrs. Roberts

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Roberts celebrated two anniversaries Sunday with a smart little dinner, the birthday of Mr. Archer, father of the hostess, and the wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Roberts. As might be expected, it had a very pretty setting, the table being centered with an oval mirror on which was placed a crystal basket filled with lilies, the basket handles tied with green and white tulle—the color scheme carried out in other appointments.

Covers were laid for Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Archer, Mrs. E. F. Archer and son Lyle, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Archer, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Archer and daughter Nita, Mrs. Belle Bennett and three sons, Leslie, Howard and Cecil, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. W. Scott, Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Peck, all of Glendale; Mr. and Mrs. Bert Archer and grandson, Eugene, Mrs. Ella J. Parmenter and son Roland, Mrs. T. W. PROPOSE AN AUTO PLANT FOR CITY

C. of C. Hears Promoters and Refers Matter to Industrial Committee

At the comparatively small meeting of Chamber of Commerce directors held at chamber headquarters at 12:30 p. m. the first item brought up by Secretary Rhoades following the reading of the minutes was the bad conditions at the Glendale station on the Southern Pacific Railroad, which he declares is unlighted at night, either at the station or on the streets immediately adjoining, and any traveler getting off there, unacquainted with the locality would be quite helpless. The matter was referred to the committee on railways and public utilities, of which Mr. Hayward is chairman. Until conditions for travelers are improved at that point, Mr. Rhoades said, it was of little use to ask the railroad company to stop more trains at Glendale.

Two applicants were voted into membership, viz., Rev. Clifford A. Cole and Miss Marie M. Goldsmith.

Mr. King and his associate, Mr. Thompson of the West Coast Manufacturing Company were then introduced and Mr. King addressed the directors relative to a proposition to establish a plant in Glendale for the manufacture of an automobile according to patents which Mr. King owns and which he will turn over to the company in lieu of money for capital stock whenever such a company is established. Blue prints of the proposed car were tacked upon the wall and explained by Mr. King to the men present, who seemed much interested. He claimed that 80 per cent of the materials that would enter into the car could be purchased in Los Angeles and that it could be manufactured as cheaply here as in the East and save a freight cost of $178 per car; that it could be turned out with a profit per car of $600 on a $2300 model. After he explained the proposition at some length it was referred to the industrial committee for investigation and report.

When asked about his past experience in the automobile business he stated he had been a designer for the Studebaker company, for the Hudson and the Pope Toledo. He also stated that the plant he plans to erect somewhere on the coast calls for a two-story building 350x100 feet and five acres of ground.

Bees Run Amuck

(By International News Service)
BOSTON, May 31.—Five thousand baseball fans were in a fair way to get "stung" while watching a Sunday game on the Metropolitan reservation and from all reports "it was not in the bag."

It was not that kind of stinging, according to several of the victims, who were stung.

During the progress of the game a great swarm of bees descended upon the crowd and before Michael W. Barrett, well-known bee fancier, could reach the scene and use his influence with the buzzing, angry, uninvited guests the crowd was thrown into a panic and several women and children had narrow escapes in avoiding automobiles while running with the throng.

The timely arrival of the bee king saved the day. Professor Barrett worked about a half hour and managed to gather in the "stingers."

Mrs. Meeker Reports Drawing of This Number This Morning at C. of C.

Mrs. Ralph Meeker, chairman of the committee which has worked so valiantly to furnish the kitchen of the Welfare Home at Monte Vista, reports that the drawing to determine the lucky winner of the airplane ride for which tickets were sold at the garden fete held at the Marshall home a few weeks ago, took place this morning at the chamber of commerce, Secretary Rhodes taking the responsibility of choosing the card which will settle who is to enjoy the treat.

The first number drawn was 360 and whoever produces the ticket bearing that fortunate combination of figures will be the guest of L. C. Brand in an air tour of the valley. The next number was 490, the next 204 and the fourth 444. Should No. 1 fail to claim the ride within five days, the chance will go to No. 2 or to No. 3 if No. 2 fails to qualify.

BEAUTIFUL SCREEN STORY OF LINCOLN

A great treat to the old boys of the civil war and the members of the Women's Relief Corps who are their comrades in keeping aflame the fires of remembrance and patriotism on the altars of the G. A. R., in the program to which they were invited Monday evening, by Manager Howe of the Glendale theater. Most of the members of N. P. Banks Post and their ladies were there, and it was touching to hear their comments on the beautiful little Lincoln drama they had witnessed as they separated after the show to go their several ways.

It was a story which showed the great heart of Lincoln triumphing over the criticism of his cabinet, especially Secretary of War Stanton, who continually reproached the President for his leniency to boys arrested for desertion, and it was supposed to have been told by the veteran of '61 to a couple of veterans of the world war who stopped to greet him when they saw him sitting in the park devouring with his eyes a statue of Lincoln. The delineation of the great President by Ralph Ince was quite wonderful and brought tears to the eyes of many whose memories reached back to that time of stress and national peril.

Richardson D. White, superintendent of the Glendale city schools, eulogized the boys who gave their lives that the boon of liberty might be ours, and declared Americanism to be the keynote of Americans.

Frederick Warde, noted Shakespearean actor and more recently famed for his work in California's Mission Play, received tremendous applause for his reading of Van Dyke's "God of the Open Air."

The beautiful vocal solos of Mme. Constance Balfour Keaumoka Lewis and Harold Proctor were also received with applause by the vast audience.

Dwight W. Stephenson, representing the Glendale board of trustees made an eloquent address. The ritualistic services by the Grand Army of the Republic were most impressive.

The beautiful closing ceremony is one that will linger long in the minds of the beholders. The Glendale company, National Guard, commanded by Captain T. D. Watson, formed a triangle enclosing the cross and the symbolic grave, at whose head stood a color guard of high school girls. Then a firing squad from the Arcadia Balloon School fired a salute to the dead and when its echo had ceased to reverberate, a bugler played the

BUILDING PERMITS STILL MOUNTING

Seven permits issued this morning add a brave final to the building record of May. They total $15,675 and bring the record of the month to $445,195, and for the year to $1,653,536. It is not impossible that before the day is out the half million mark will be reached.

One of the most important of these permits is for a two-room store building on West Broadway in the neighborhood of Pacific which shows that business is beginning to branch out in a new direction. It was issued to P. A. Pollock for a building at 470 West Broadway.

The list in detail follows:

Margaret and Neva James, 4 room and garage, 521 Milford, Stanford	3250
W. B. Collins, 5 rooms, 208 East Park, W. E. Cleveland	3500

BOND ISSUE TO GO ON BALLOT

City Manager Watson reports that the petitions asking that a bond proposition of $22,000 be put upon the ballot to be voted at the next city election to provide a swimming pool and pay the balance due on Kenilworth park, have been turned in to the city hall with enough signatures to insure the placing of the proposition on the ballot.

SCRATCH THE SURFACE

When you are in the company of a man who is well posted on a certain subject do not try to impress him with the fact that you also are quite well informed on the same subject.

It should be much more profitable to you to ask him questions which will bring additional knowledge to you.

You have nothing to gain by a display of knowledge, trying to make a man think you know considerable, because you cannot fool a man who really knows.

Your form of expressing yourself is bound to give you away.

Then the man who knows does not volunteer information to a man who tries to work a bluff that he knows, but most men will give out some good pointers to the person who, by asking questions, admits that he is interested and desires to learn.

BIGAMY CHARGE AGAINST MAHONEY

(By International News Service)

SEATTLE, May 31.—Police today declared they had found where James E. Mahoney, 36, held here in connection with the mysterious disappearance of his 72-year-old bride, purchased six pounds of quick lime the day before the woman was seen for the last time. They connect this with the evidence that Mahoney rowed out into Lake Union the day following with a trunk which he dropped into the waters.

In order to hold him further, the police expect to file a charge of bigamy against Mahoney on the statement of his former wife, Irene G. Ford of Chattanooga, Tenn., that she and Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Archer and daughter Mahoney is still legally in charge of his wife's property, valued at more than $250,000.

Thousands and thousands of men have failed to make a success of their lives because they were unwilling to admit their ignorance along lines that they figure they should know a great deal.

Undoubtedly you can recall instances where you might have obtained something of great benefit to you—something you could have used to advantage later—if you had accepted a chance to learn.

Mrs. W. A. Fitzgerald, former vice president, who has recently moved from the San Jacinto valley to Berkeley was elected president. About 50,000 women are now enrolled in the federation and of these 22,000 are from the south.

There were two invitations for the next meeting, one from Santa Cruz and one from Los Angeles. It is up to the official board to decide which invitation to accept and it will probably not act on the proposition for some time to come.

Mrs. Toll says the return trip in the special Ebell train was quite as delightful as the journey north. The ladies had the observation car to themselves and had concerts there both going and returning. She met several Glendale women, but had little chance herself to enjoy social stunts or excursions.

resting place of all our dead for we would indeed deem it a privilege to in some material, physical way show our respect, our love and our appreciation for their supreme sacrifice, but many of them sleep in the fields of the country they gave their lives to save, and we must content ourselves with the prayer that the wild flowers may cover them with a blanket far sweeter and far more beautiful than any mortal hands could fashion. We cannot by any material or physical manifestation demonstrate that their memory is ever dear to us, but in our hearts is erected a monument to their memory which will remain until we, ourselves, lay down life's burdens and sleep the long sleep of death.

With the memory of those dear comrades fresh in our minds, let all of us go home today with the prayer in our hearts that our country may become a vast and splendid monument, not of oppression and terror, but of Wisdom, of Peace and of Liberty upon which the whole world may gaze with admiration forever and ever.

CURIOS FROM THE SOUTH SEAS BY GLENDALIAN

Elijah Zerr, But Lately Returned From Marquesas Islands, Exhibits Beautiful Collection to Friends Entertained
by His Mother and Tells of Experiences

Friday night, Mrs. Francis Zerr of 309 North Cedar street entertained quite a party of friends and neighbors who wished to meet her son, Elijah Zerr, but lately returned from the South Sea islands where our distinguished townsman, Frederick O'Brien, is now cruising among some of the more remote of the cannibal islands with a party of scientists and educators.

Mr. Zerr is a camera man, and assistant director in the world of movie-dom and made the voyage in company with Mr. Otto, a director, and a few other adventurous souls for the purpose of getting picture material. His disappointment in fully carrying out his intent, the break-up of the party and his return to California, when he expected to make this trip the first lap of a voyage around the world, is a story that only he can tell.

He has a beautiful collection of curios and though he makes no claim to lecturing ability, his descriptions of his experiences and the things he saw were of great interest.

Though he has had disappointments in carrying through his plans, he does not begrudge the time spent in that part of the world and is glad to have such beautiful reminders of his stay there. The souvenirs include some very handsome head bands, some of small, brightly-colored shells, others of feathers made into almost flower-like forms. He also has lovely shell necklaces, iridescent as waves at sunrise; likewise splendid examples of weaving, basketry, fans and mats that are strong, firm and attractively patterned. There are flexible woven mats for floors and cushion use, hats suggesting Panama weaves and decorated with a pattern in color; fluffy grass skirts, bringing about visions of barbaric tropic festivals, and a very fine example of tapa cloth, like a huge rug, many yards in length, typical in its ivory coloring printed with brown. Of this tapa cloth or, paper cloth, as he terms it, Frederick O'Brien, our own townsman who has made so many trips to the Marquesas, has this to say in his book, "White Shadows in the South Seas":

"In the old days, the island of Fatuhiva was the art center of the Marquesas. The fame of its tattooers, carvers in wood and stone, makers of canoes, paddles and war-clubs, had resounded through the archipelago for centuries. Now it is one of the few places where even a feeble survival of those industries give the newcomer a glimpse of their methods and ideals now sinking, like their originators, in the mire of wretchedness.

"Outside the mission gates, in the edge of the jungle, Pere Olive and I came upon two old women making tapa cloth. Shrunken with age, toothless, decrepit, their only covering the ragged and faded pareus that spoke of poverty, they sat in the shade of a banian tree beating the fibrous inner bark of the bread-fruit tree. Over the hollow log that resounded with the blows of their wooden mallets, the cloth moved slowly, doubling on the ground into a heap of silken texture, firm, thin and soft.

"This paper cloth, was once made throughout all the South Sea islands. Bread-fruit, banian, mulberry and other barks furnished the fiber. The outer rough bark was scraped off with a shell and the inner rind slightly beaten and allowed to ferment. It was then beaten over a tree trunk with mallets of iron-wood about 18 inches long, grooved coarsely on one side and more finely on the other. The fibers were so closely interwoven by this beating that in the finished cloth one could not guess the process of making. When finished, the fabric was bleached in the sun to a dazzling white, and from it the Marquesans of old wrought wondrous garments."

"For dyeing these garments in all the hues that fancy dictated, the women used the juices of herbs and trees. Candle-nut bark gave a rich chocolate hue. Scarlet was obtained from the matiberries mixed with the leaves of the tou. Hibiscus flowers or delicate ferns were dipped in these colors and impressed on the tapes in elegant designs.

"The garments were virtually indestructible. Did a dress need repairing, the edges of the rent were moistened and beaten together, or a handful of fiber was beaten in as a patch. Often for fishermen, the tapes were made waterproof by added thicknesses and the employment of gums, and waterproof cloth for wrappings was made thick and as impervious to the rain as the oilcloth it resembled.

"As the tapa disappeared, so did the beautiful carvings of canoes, paddles and clubs, superseded by the cheaper machine-made articles of the white."

"The Marquesans never made a pot. They had clay in their soil but they had no need of pottery, using exclusively the gourds from the vines, wooden vessels hollowed out, and temporary cups of leaves."

One of the coconut cups mentioned by O'Brien was brought back by Zerr. These were used in the drinking of Kava in the old days, the native liquor of the islands, which was "suppressed" under French domination, but Mr. O'Brien was fortunate enough to see some of it manufactured. The kava is a variety of pepper plant and the decoction is made from the root, which is like a yam. In the process this is scraped into particles like slaw, tough, hard fibers. Young women are then called in, who chew the grated root and after thoroughly masticating it, spit it out into banana leaf cups. "This chewing of the kava root," says Mr. O'Brien, "is the very being of kava as a beverage, for it is a ferment in the saliva that separates alkaloid and sugar and liberates the narcotic principle. Only the healthiest and loveliest of the girls are chosen to munch the root, that delectable and honored privilege being refused to those whose teeth are not perfect and upon whose cheeks roses do not bloom."

TRAIN BANDIT CONFESSES CRIME

Roy Gardner Asked That His Wife Be Given Half of $5000 Reward

(By International News Service)
SACRAMENTO, May 31.—Roy Gardner, who confessed here Saturday to robbing the Pacific Limited mail train near New Castle recently, was taken to San Francisco by federal officers early today, according to reports current here.

Newspapermen who sought to see the bandit at the county jail shortly after midnight were denied admittance and federal officers refused to answer questions this morning relative to the rumored movement of the bandit.

Postal inspectors admitted that plans had been made to move Gardner to San Francisco, but stated that they were not permitted to make any statement as to whether he had already been transferred.

In his confession here Saturday the bandit asked that his wife be given half the $5000 reward offered by the federal government for his capture, and it is understood that the confession was obtained upon promises of the officers that this request would be complied with.

UNITED STATES IS TREASURE CHEST

WASHINGTON, May 31.—Holding more than a third of the total gold supply of the world and steadily receiving more, the United States has become the world's treasure chest and practically every nation impoverished by the war is already negotiating or is about to begin negotiations for great loans in American financial markets.

France already is floating $100,000,000 and if this is successful, other nations will follow in quick succession, according to opinions expressed today in treasury circles. It was knowledge of this condition and a desire to safeguard the dominant position America has gained that led President Harding to summon to Washington a group of the most powerful international bankers of the country and convey to them the gentle hint that the administration does not relish the idea of stripping American industry of easy credit in order to finance competition abroad.

President Harding was told by the international bankers that the quickest road to American prosperity lay through refinancing Europe. It can be stated authoritatively, however, that President Harding and his advisors have not accepted this theory in its entirety and the views of mid-western bankers will be sought before any action is taken.

BERGDOLL RESENTS PROPERTY SEIZURE

Writing Book About Escape, in Which There Will Be Sensational Statements

(By International News Service)
BERLIN, May 31.—Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, rich American draft evader, who is now a refugee in Baden, is wrathful over the seizure of his property in the United States by the American government and he contended today that such action was illegal. Bergdoll revealed that he is writing a book about his escape and intimated that he would make sensational revelations.

A telegram was sent to Bergdoll at Eberbach asking him if he had any statement to make regarding the seizure of his property. The following answer was received today:

"The seizure of my property was absolutely illegal. The alien property law cannot apply to American citizens. I am not a German citizen but an American and I am entitled to all my rights under the law. The move is only calculated to worry my mother and to give the lawyers and politicians a chance to grab off graft. I am well aware that there is trickery afoot or they would not have waited this long for a congressional investigation. They are going to whitewash army officials and lawyers who perjured themselves."

"I am writing a book on the whole affair giving all the names and all of the details which did not come to light during the inquiry."

"I shall not return to the United States until amnesty is granted."

FORMER RESIDENTS OF DUNDEE, ILL.

Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Rowe, 216 South Orange, are firm believers in the idea that "old acquaintance" should not be forgotten; wherefore they were hosts on Saturday evening to a company of fourteen friends, all former residents of Dundee, Ill., but now enthusiastic California boosters. Some of the guests live in Huntington Park others in Hollywood and still others in Los Angeles.

Carnations from Mrs. Rowe's garden were used in the decorations of the home for this congenial party, and a cafeteria supper was served at 5 o'clock.

Other recent guests in the Rowe home were Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Corl and family of Fillmore, and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Thompson, formerly of Glendale, but now of Los Angeles, and Mrs. Thompson's mother, Mrs. Weisenheimer, whom Mr. and Mrs. Rowe entertained at dinner on Sunday evening. Mrs. Weisenheimer is leaving in a few weeks for a visit to Indianapolis, her former home.

THEATERS

Glendale Theater

The Glendale theater has secured for a three-day run, beginning today, "Reputation," starring Priscilla Dean, this picture is now in its fourth week at one of the Broadway, Los Angeles, theaters.

While "Reputation" is said to be one of the most sensational pictures of the year, it is a clean, wholesome story.

Other good features are also to be seen on the program at the Glendale theater today.

Palace Grand

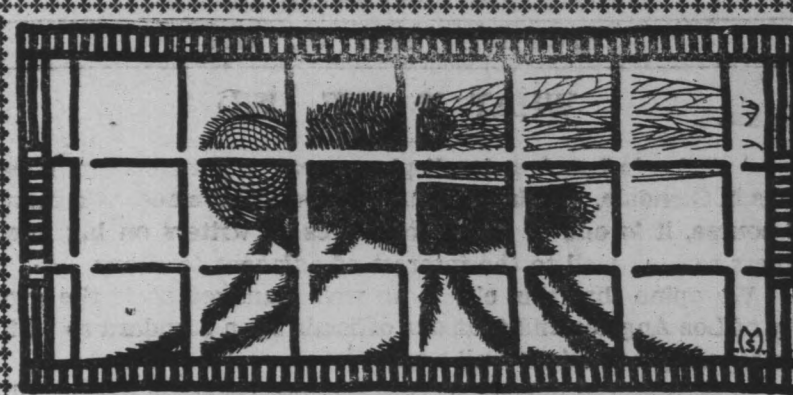

The Palace Grand is showing for today only, "Her First Elopement," featuring Wanda Hawley.

In addition to the regular program there will be shown a brand new edition of "A Country Hero," with Patty Arbuckle, Buster Keaton and Al St. John in the cast.

"Trapping the Bobcat" will be of especial interest to local theater-goers from the fact that Bill and Bob Bradbury, of Glendale, are featured in it.

Baker-Ford Rentals

W. H. Baker of the Baker Ford Rentals company is moving from the headquarters he has shared with Mr. Grose at the corner of Maryland and Broadway, or 201 East Broadway, to 100 numbers farther east, or 301 East Broadway. His new stand has been leased for a year and he is putting in new cars in anticipation of a heavy business the coming summer months. Mr. Baker's business is renting cars without a driver for a day, week, month or year, and many are glad to take advantage of his service on camping trips and vacation tours.

SHORT SKIRTS

Does it not begin to seem that these distracting short skirts the women are wearing may prove to be like prohibition, not at all the mere temporary madness we lightly assumed them? They have persisted already beyond prophecies, and that there is more to them than a thrifty season's fancy is already established.

Periodically through history, woman has revolted against the art—or morals, if you like it better—of concealment; do we stand at the dawn of such a period? Maybe we do. At any rate, the spectacles which the observer who walks abroad today is privileged to behold give him some thoughts he never had before, and some he may have had before, but could get on without.

For example of the former, does it not seem that our notion of this tradition of concealment has been asked? We have assumed that feminine modesty was for the concealing of feminine beauties; does it not appear more probable that the purpose was for the concealment of other than beauties? Ah, could Rabelais, could Walt Whitman, could any of those who delight in making pages of catalogues, walk our streets today! Everywhere in multi-colored stockings, are the legs which proclaim their motto, "Variety unashamed!" Curious legs, crescentic legs, pear-shaped legs, loose legs, baby grand legs, hyperbolic legs, vertical legs, Anything-arian legs, rhomboid legs, concave legs, Sheraton legs, crescendo legs, convex legs, bellicose legs, cock-a-hoop legs, oblique legs, synergistic legs, overplus legs, underdone legs, bulbous legs, confluxible legs, Heppel-white legs, gothic legs, rococo legs. The women show them defiantly. "On these we stand," them seem to paraphrase. "God helped us little, we can do no other."—The Villager, Katonah, N. Y.

WHAT IS THE USE?

A writer in Los Angeles displays great solicitude anent conditions in Glendale, which seems to be unjustified since, as a matter of course, it is one of the prerogatives of writers on big newspapers to look well to the interest of adjacent territory.

We opine that this city is as well managed as is the great city of Los Angeles and that our officials set a standard to which our big neighbor might well aspire.

Regarding the moving picture feature, Glendale has a highly intelligent board of censors and they have no trouble in regulating the pictures thrown upon the screen, as each of the proprietors of our home theaters is constantly endeavoring to give the superior citizenship of Glendale the very highest class of amusement attainable.

Mention is also made in the article about an attempt to govern our city with what is known as "Blue Laws." This matter has been agitated very little in our community and it is believed that the coming municipal election will not advance nor retard the movement.

As a matter of fact if this were brought to an issue, in our opinion, it would not be through the board of city trustees, but the people would demand that it be submitted to a referendum vote of the entire city.

The writer of the article alluded to is highly and justly esteemed in his home city, for he is a resident of Glendale, but passes his days in Los Angeles and retires very, very early at night—in other words, he is not in touch with the serene, peaceful life in Glendale, that he described so graphically, nor is he in touch with the superb management of his beautiful city.

An interesting feature of our foreign trade during the past year is revealed in an official table recently published by the New York Trust Company showing the nation's dealings with European powers. For the nine-month period ending March 1, 1921, our two most likely European buyers have been the nations which have most recently been our enemies—Germany and Spain. For this period Germany was our third best customer, buying $312,188,000 worth of American goods, and Spain, the only other country whose importations from the United States increased during this period, bought more than one hundred million dollars worth of goods. Foreign trade, no less than politics, makes strange bedfellows.

The Ohio State Journal hits the nail on the head when it says people sometimes think that success in public life depends chiefly upon the candidate's ability to come out in a general way for God, for country and for home and make it sound perfectly fearless.

An optimist is one who thinks it might be worse; a pessimist is one who suspects it will be.

HOW IS IT WORKING OUT?

Let's see, wasn't there some sort of a beneficent insurance plan worked out by our grateful government, through the operation of which the men who went to war were to enjoy opulence, or, at least, to be taken care of handsomely in case they returned sick or disabled?

Dainty Salads and Sandwiches

One of the most perplexing questions which confronts a hostess, is what she shall serve to eat and drink at little informal gatherings of friends during the holiday season. There are certain stereotyped dishes which have been served by us and to us on almost every occasion, so that both we and our friends have become tired of them, and are on the lookout for something new. Chicken salad is perhaps one of the oldest of these old things, and might well be replaced by some of the newer and equally delicious salads, some of which cost less and lend themselves more readily to dainty garnishing and individual service.

Pineapple Salad

Fresh or canned pineapple, mayonnaise dressing, diced apple, candied cherries, lettuce.

The fresh or canned pineapple should be shredded or diced.

Use as much apple by measure, as you have pineapple, and mix them well together. Moisten with part of the mayonnaise, and use the remainder for decorating the salad. Garnish with the cherries and serve piled high on the lettuce. If preferred, a cream dressing may be substituted for the mayonnaise.

Cocoanut Sandwiches

One cup of grated cocoanut, 1 teaspoon of lemon or orange juice, 1 cup of English walnuts, a little powdered sugar, ¼ cup of heavy cream.

Add to the cocoanut the finely chopped nuts, also the lemon or orange juice and the cream and sugar. The quantity of sugar will depend to some extent on whether orange or lemon juice is used. Mix to a paste with the cream and spread on bread well buttered. These should be made as shortly before eating as possible.

Pecan and Cream Cheese Salad

Pecan nuts, sweet cream, lettuce, apples, cream cheese, mayonnaise dressing.

Have the nuts shelled and carefully picked over, so that there may be no particles of the bitter connecting tissue with them. Chop them fine and mix with twice their bulk of cream cheese, adding as much liquid cream as may be needed to enable them to be formed into a paste. Season lightly with pepper and salt and make into small, round balls. The butter paddies used in forming butter balls will be very excellent for this purpose.

Core and pare medium sized apples; cut them into slices and lay a slice on each plate on a lettuce leaf. Place a cheese and nut ball in the center of each slice of apple and pour thick mayonnaise dressing over. Serve with bread and butter sandwiches or unsweetened graham wafers.

Pimento and Cheese Salad

Lettuce, cheese, yolks of 2 eggs, 2 cups of celery, cracker crumbs, French dressing, 1 can of sweet Spanish peppers.

Chop the peppers fine, grate the cheese and chop the celery. Have the yolks of the eggs hard cooked. Add them to the cheese, and form the ingredients into small, round balls, moistening them with the liquid from the peppers.

Mix peppers and celery and marinate with a little French dressing. Lay crisp lettuce leaves on individual serving plates. Make a little nest or bed of the peppers and celery, roll the cheese balls in finely crushed cracker crumbs, which have been crisped in the oven, and serve at once.

Mayonnaise dressing can be used for this salad in place of the French dressing if preferred, but the French dressing makes a daintier looking salad.

Nut and Raisin Sandwiches

Nut and raisin sandwiches are delicious and can be made from almost any kind of nuts. Half as many nuts as raisins are used and both are passed through a food chopper, then moistened with orange juice before being spread on the buttered bread. Rich marmalades, such as peach or apricot, can also be mixed with nuts and used as a sandwich filling. For these, plain thin slices of sponge cake are sometimes used in place of bread. Such a sandwich should be cut very small. The fragments need by no means be wasted but will form an excellent base for future puddings.

Series of Articles on Patents, Inventions, Etc.

By WILLIAM C. CUTLER of Glendale, California

PATENTABLE SUBJECTS

Q—"Before known." What does it strictly mean?

A—"The previous thing must have been complete and operative. If anything precedes in the nature of an uncompleted experiment, a later thing precedes in the nature of an uncompleted experiment, a later complete and operative device would be considered novel." "A machine or combination is not designed by its maker, nor actually used, nor apparently adapted to perform the function of a patented machine, or combination, but which is discovered in a remote art and was used under radically different conditions to perform another function, neither anticipates nor limits the scope of the patent." Court opinion.

Q—"Described." What does it mean?

A—"A published description must fully, clearly, and in exact terms, describe, in order for it to overcome a claim of novelty in a later device, which is practical." "It has been frequently held that drawings alone, unaccompanied by letterpress description, will never invalidate a patent." "A rude sketch of an apparatus, never made and carried into practical use, is not sufficient to defeat the claimant's patent." Court opinion.

Q—"Novelty." Why must an invention possess it to be patentable?

A—"Because the Patent Law requires it. Congress created the law and therefore had the right to regulate as it chose. Besides it is a proper requirement.

Q—"Novelty requirement. Is there any exception to it?"

A—"A means that would rediscover that which was known, but had become a lost art, would be patentable. For example, a method of tempering copper, or a means of rendering glass malleable, would be termed novel.

Q—"Public use of a patented product. Is it a test of novelty?"

A—"If the invention is manufactured and the patent is not disputed for a number of years, the courts are reluctant to decide the claims invalid. On the other hand, if the patent is not used for a number of years the patent lacks this support from public use.

Q—"Grant of a patent. Is it a test of novelty?"

A—"Yes, in a certain degree: Where the examiner finds no prior patents or printed publication which limit the claims, or where the patent issues after strong opposition from the patent office examiner—without changes—it is a fairly good test.

Q—"Success, efficiency and utility. Are they evidence of novelty?"

A—"Yes, they all help to prove it. The one-piece collar button, the barbed wire, and the loom cases are instances, where they assisted materially to support 'novelty.'

Q—"Attempted evasion of a patent. Does it show evidence of novelty in the patent infringed?"

A—"It does. 'The very fact that an effort has been made to 'evade' in some less satisfactory manner is an acknowledgment. An infringer cannot consistently claim a patent he infringes if it does not possess novelty, or why should he copy it?' Court opinion.

Q—"Utility. What does it mean?"

A—"That which is useful to mankind. It must not be fraudulent or immoral. Gambling devices have been held void for lack of utility. 'Spotting' tobacco leaves, to simulate the naturally spotted leaf was held void for want of utility.

Q—"Pioneer patent. What is it?"

A—"One that represents a marked advance in the art; when an inventor for the first time accomplishes a certain result." Court opinion.

Q—"Pioneer patent. Does it close the door to subsequent inventions?"

A—"No. On the contrary it opens it. Thousands of patents have been granted for improvements in Bell's original telephone invention.

Q—"Accidental result. Is it patentable?"

A—"Yes. 'An invention is not like a will, depending upon the intention. It is a fact, and if the fact exists it does not appear to be material whether it came by design or accidentally without being bidden.' Court opinion.

Memorial Service

AT TABERNACLE

Patriotic Address by Rev.

Kendrick of Pasadena and Vocal Solos

The attendance on the memorial service in the Tabernacle, Sunday afternoon, proved the heartfelt, sincere patriotism of the citizens of Glendale, for a large audience assembled to hear the vocal numbers by Dr. Joseph Marple and Miss Elizabeth Mottern, to join in the singing of the "Star Spangled Banner" and "America," and to hear the fine address made by Rev. C. R. Norton of this city and for many years a fellow member in an Iowa conference.

His talk was addressed first to the veterans of the civil war and then to the veterans of the world war. It was a patriotic address calculated to increase their devotion to country and led up to an expression of his own desire that America may have a chance to become America for Americans by the restriction of immigration and some effort to keep out the turbulent elements of the old world and take in only those people who will become naturalized and adopt our way of life.

You may deprive the wet of his hootch if you will, but he'll take a teakettle and make him a still.

Every time Uncle Sam tries to maintain the open door in China he puts his foot in it.

And so the California mountains are moving. Well, it's cheaper than paying rent.

Express Appreciation

Glendale company, California National Guard, is in receipt of the following expression of appreciation which he is asked to convey to members of the company:

Eagle Rock, May 28.
Capt. T. D. Watson, Glendale:
Dear Sir—We wish to express to you as far as words can do so, our deep appreciation of the kindness and sympathy shown during the recent illness and loss of our son and brother, Warren Vinacke.

Kindly convey our appreciation to the members of your company and his comrades who by their attendance and help showed their sympathy not only to us but their respect to one of their comrades. Warren loved the uniform for what it stood for and all who wore it, as do my wife and I.

We desire to commend to all Him who has been our strength and shield in this our time of sorrow; for truly the Lord has been our strength and shield, a very present help in time of trouble.

Warren's last words to one of his chums and comrades was: "Appreciate your strength while you have it."

Again expressing our appreciation, we remain,
Yours for any service we can render,

H. C. VINACKE,
NELLIE V. VINACKE,
AVIS M. BRADFORD.

EVENING SERVICE AT CHRISTIAN CHURCH

Sunday evening at the Central Christian church was devoted to a presentation in a series of five playlets, of the great worth to the church in every department, of the "World Call," the magazine issued by the United Christian Missionary societies. The first demonstrated the magazine's usefulness in the home, the second in the women's class, the third in the Ladies' Aid, the fourth in the men's class and the last in the Christian Endeavor department. All the characters were splendidly portrayed and the general remark was that several sermons were preached by the faithful presentation.

TAGGING ALL THE BASES

By Ruth's fourteenth home run, the Yankees trimmed Philadelphia.

Irish Muesel got his eighth home run of the season, tying George Kelly and deciding the issue between the Phillies and Dodgers.

The Reds tripped up the Pirates in 13 innings, Coumbe and Rixey doing the sharpshooting.

Homers by Smith and Lavan featured St. Louis' victory over the Cubs. Timely hitting by Bush and Veach spelled defeat for the White Sox at Detroit.

In a game that was stopped in the sixth inning by rain, the Senators with Erickson giving up but three hits, easily trimmed Boston.

Graney of Cleveland and Williams of St. Louis, each got two homers, while Elmer Smith made one, in a game won by the world's champions.

Why don't these spiritualists make a treaty with the other world and get a concession to dam the Styx for electrical power.

The Victorious Life

The Presbyterian church was much favored Sunday morning by the presence of Rev. Robert C. McQuilkin of New York, who has become known through the country in connection with the Victorious Life Conferences, one of which has just been meeting in Pasadena. A very brief outline of his address follows:

The greatest miracle in the Bible is the resurrection of Jesus Christ. The greatest miracle in the world today is the living of the Christian life—not as it is usually lived, but as God means it to be lived. The power of God is the power that was used in the resurrection. That power is the power in which we are expected and intended to live. The supreme work of the Spirit is for present-day living. If it is for just such folks as we are, we should expect to find perfectly plain teaching about it. If you have been mixed up, it has been from man's teaching.

In John 7:38,39, Jesus promised His disciples that the Holy Spirit who would come after his own departure should be in them as rivers of living water, and should guide them in all truth. This was to be better for them than his own continued presence. And when the Spirit would come he would convict the hearts of men of their sin—the sin of not receiving the Lord Jesus. Believing or not believing on Jesus is the one sin that will be dealt with at the judgment. Jesus showed what the perfect man should be; in the power of the Holy Ghost he lived it. But your good upright moral man who knows not God—he is lost. Why? He doesn't have one single bit of God's righteousness, the only kind that will save him. The only way a man may see this is by looking at one who has it. And so the Spirit must come to make men the exponents of that life. "Be filled with the Spirit"—have that righteousness. The world should see in you a human being in whom Satan's power is broken.

We read of the baptism of the Holy Ghost at Pentecost. When does God will it for us? Now. Those disciples received many different gifts—endowments. Is there a gift that is in common for every single one? The Holy Spirit came to glorify Christ. And every members of Christ's body is a manifestor of the glory, in every moment, in every duty. "The fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, long-suffering, gentleness, goodness, faith, meekness, temperance;" all those different things are love, really just one thing; a nine-fold fruit. The world can see this fruit of Christ only in you. The great central work of the life of the Spirit is victory over sin. And this is a free gift. God is just waiting for us to come and take it from him.

JAMES E. CHESTER PURCHASES HOME

James E. Chester has recently purchased the beautiful home of F. R. McWilliams, 851 East Colorado street.

This residence, with its fine grounds and magnificent view, is one of the show places of Glendale, and Mr. Chester intends making it his permanent home. The sale was made by the Charles B. Guthrie agency.

Frank D. Meyers, a newcomer in Glendale, has bought through the Guthrie agency, the commodious ten-room house at 332 North Brand boulevard, from Robert Campbell, of Detroit, who has been passing his winters in Glendale.

Mr. Meyers will remodel the whole house and beautify the grounds. He is a firm believer in the future of Glendale and has demonstrated his faith by the purchase of other property here. Among his other holdings are two lots on Brand boulevard just north of Wilson avenue, which he has bought from Thomas L. Rich, another in the same vicinity which he purchased from Morris Breitstein, and another at the corner of Doran street and Brand boulevard, purchased from R. S. Person. All of these sales were made through the Charles B. Guthrie agency.

SEEING THE WIND

To see the wind isn't a matter of particularly keen eyesight, but simply of knowing how to look at it. It can very readily be done on any windy day, whether hot or cold, so long as the air is dry. The emolument necessary is a smooth or polished flat metallic surface two feet or more long, with a straight edge. A large handsaw will serve the purpose very well. Hold the metallic surface at right angles to the wind; for example, if the wind is from the east, hold the saw, if that is what is being used, on a north and south line with a flat surface at an angle of about 45 degrees, so that the wind will glance as it strikes the metal. Sight carefully along the edge of the metal at some small clearly defined object and you will then see the air current flowing over the edge just as water flows over a dam. The stronger the wind the greater will be the speed of the flow, but the volume will not be increased.—Argonaut.

NOW IT IS TO BE 'RICE DAY,' JUNE 11

SACRAMENTO, May 31.—Buy California rice, loosen "frozen credits" and add materially to the prosperity of the state.

This is the program of the organization of growers, who have figured if only a sixth of the population of the state were to buy five pounds each of rice, half the present stagnant supply of 3,000,000 pounds would be moved.

With this idea, June 11 is to be California Rice Day, and with the slogan "Buy Five Pounds of California Rice Today," it is hoped to remedy this indicated condition.

This day has been officially designated by Governor Stephens as California Rice Day.

Dr. Wirth says America can't hold aloof. In America, however, there is a disposition to hold aloof or the reins.
